

CHAIRMAN HANNA REVIEWS ISSUES

Statement Giving Reasons
Why M'Kinley Should Be Elected.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

Democratic Party Represents Policies That Are Dangerous to the Country

PARTY RECORD IS HELD UP

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Senator Marcus A. Hanna, chairman of the republican national committee, yesterday issued his final statement regarding the issues involved in this campaign. It is a strong and straightforward presentation of the differences which exist between the republican party and the united parties of distress, discontent and dishonor, and points out the fact that the dangerous issue of 1896—free silver coinage—is still a part of Mr. Bryan's political issues, however much it has been covered up by the parade of other issues or by evasion.

Chairman Hanna recites what the present administration has done in the fulfillment of the pledges made by the republican party in 1896 and shows that the workingman and the business man have prospered under republican policy, and that "mortgages have been canceled, the home life brightened, and the surplus deposited in the bank."

Mr. Bryan's Declaration.

After Mr. Hanna's statement had been announced William Jennings Bryan prepared a declaration, in the form of an interview with himself in which he attempted to belittle "the full dinner pail" argument of the republicans. He also proceeded to state why laboring men "are drawn to the democratic party." He followed this with his views of the present condition of farmers and business men, taking his usual pessimistic attitude, and holding out Bryanism as the only remedy for the so-called ills.

Mr. Hanna's statement is as follows:

Hanna Reviews Issues.

"Four years ago at the close of a campaign marked by great earnestness and candor of expression, I felt justified in appealing to all voters of the United States, irrespective of party to cast their votes for William McKinley. Today the conditions even more clearly justify a similar appeal. Then the currency of the country was threatened in open and explicit terms, and this threat was recognized as endangering the savings of wage-earners the prosperity of the farmer, the activity of the manufacturer and the safety of the business man. Coupled with this was the threat of interference with the judiciary and the proper administration of law and order, and this endangered the very life of the nation.

"Four years ago the country and the people were experiencing a condition of financial distress such as this country has never known. Official reports of the department of labor show that wages have risen a higher rate than ever before in this country, where labor receives the highest reward, and the demand for labor in all lines of industry was never greater. The reports of the railways show a larger number of men employed than ever before. Reports of the savings banks show that the laboring men and women of the land have increased their deposits $454,000,000 as compared with 1896, and the number of depositors has increased 332,000.

"With this increase of activity and employment have come higher prices for the farmer and greater demand for his products; the mortgage has been canceled, the home life brightened and the surplus deposited in the bank. Commerce and employment have expanded, the exports of all classes have exceeded those of all former administrations, and the American flag has been carried across the Pacific and the door of the Orient opened for our civilization and products.

"Yet after these three years of unparalleled prosperity the people are asked to undo all that has been done and to accept all the dangerous propositions which they four years ago rejected, and with them others equally dangerous and humiliating.

The Philippine Question.

"But this is not all. Not only is it proposed that our universal prosperity shall be abandoned, employment curtailed, the savings of the citizen and the earnings of the workingman cut in half by an unsound finance and a policy of lawlessness and disorder encouraged, but the record of American valor achieved in an unavoidable war for humanity, and the very honor of the American flag, are to be abandoned.

"The additions to American territory, which promised peace and prosperity to the millions of another race and an open door for closer relations with other millions who seek our friendship and commerce are to be abandoned, the American flag hauled down in the face of treacherous opposition and a new policy more costly, more dangerous and less beneficial to ourselves entered upon. In addition to this we are asked to endorse a policy of internal dissension, of domestic strife—a policy which arrays class against class, citizen against citizen, the employee against the employer, which would not only destroy the earnings and prosperity for all, but endanger the very life of the nation."

KING VICTOR FEARS ASSASSIN.

Ruler of Italy Guarded by an Imposing Military Escort.

Rome, Nov. 3.—The arrival here today of King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena was marked by an imposing military escort, which surprised the Romans who were not in the habit of seeing such an array of troops under the date of King Humbert's regime. It is understood that the exceptional precautions taken were at the King's own request, and in order to prevent the possibility of an attempt upon his life.

BADGER STATE READY FOR ELECTION

Mr. La Follette Has No Doubt About the Outcome in the State and Nation Next Tuesday.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Robert M. La Follette, republican candidate for governor, who has been touring the state was in this city yesterday. In speaking of the trip he said:

"The people of the state of Wisconsin seem thoroughly aroused upon the great questions of moment at this time, and I have no doubt as to the outcome in this state on Tuesday, while I am as firmly convinced of the result in the nation.

"I have noticed the great outpouring of the laboring classes, the masses who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, wherever we have been, and they all seem to take the greatest interest in the campaign and the result, believing, evidently, that the present condition of prosperity is good enough for them, and that to trade horses in the middle of the stream could not insure greater prosperity or better conditions, and that the act might prove disastrous."

Earling Refused to Allow It.

The La Follette special pulled in here this morning fresh from a tour of the state, and the county committee had arranged as they supposed, for Mr. La Follette to speak to the employees of the Allis company, and then at the shops of the C. M. & St. P. R. R.

At the last moment it was announced that President Earling had refused to allow any meetings to be held. Both meetings were then called off. Chairman Philipp of the county committee said:

"The meeting had been called upon the petition of nearly 2,000 employees of the shop. President Earling decided to deny the request for the meeting, for the reason, it is understood, that there has been some criticism of the attempt on the part of the employers of labor to give direction in political matters to men in their service, and he preferred that the Milwaukee company should not be subjected to any such criticism."

THEY SEARCH AMONG THE DEAD.

Milwaukee Mothers Seek Missing Daughters at the Morgue.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—The body of the young woman found in the river several days ago lies at the morgue, still unidentified. A remarkable thing is the number of parents whose daughters have run away from home. The coroner says that within the last five days at least forty such have looked at the body of this girl, fearing that it might be that of their missing daughter.

FOLLOWING RICE CASE CLEWS

New York Detectives Are Working to Corroborate Jones' Confession.

New York, Nov. 3.—The latest move in the Rice case is the search for the place where were purchased the drugs which Charles F. Jones, the valet, who made a confession and attempted suicide, alleges Albert T. Patrick, Rice's attorney, used to bring about the millionaire's death.

Assistant District Attorney Osborne says that he believes he knows where Patrick bought the drugs. After he consulted with Capt. McCluskey detectives were sent to follow up this clew.

From the fact that Dr. Curry, Rice's physician, noticed no odor in the death chamber upon his arrival there the night of Rice's death, it is surmised that neither ether nor chloroform was used by Patrick. There are other anesthetics which are by no means so distinct.

There are other clews contained in the cross-examination of Jones which the detectives are following, with a view to corroborating his confession. The chief aim of Capt. McCluskey is to find where the things the valet avers were used were purchased and what they were.

GOV. ROOSEVELT'S TOUR HAS ENDED

BREAKS ALL RECORDS IN NA-TION'S POLITICAL HISTORY.

He Was Heard by Over 3,000,000 People—Twenty-Four States Visited, 21,209 Miles Traveled and Nearly 700 Speeches Delivered—Teddy Feels Sure of New York State.

Duration of tour.....Eight weeks
Miles traveled.....21,209
States visited.....24
Cities visited.....507
Speeches made.....673
Persons addressed.....3,000,000

Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 3.—On his arrival here last night Governor Roosevelt said he was finishing his campaign in admirable physical condition and had as a matter of fact gained in flesh notwithstanding the fact that he had averaged only about five or six hours sleep a night.

His voice is in good condition, and he remarked that he could go on for another thirty days or more if the campaign were to last that much longer. He certainly had no appearance of being exhausted and spoke with apparent ease and vigor.

In response to an inquiry as to the outcome of the campaign in this state he said that as he is now closing his tour and his labors were practically completed he had no hesitancy in predicting that New York state would give McKinley nearly if not entirely as big a majority as four years ago.

Makes a Remarkable Record.

In eight Mr. Roosevelt has visited twenty-four states of the union, made 673 speeches, traveled 21,209 miles, visited 507 towns and cities and talked to what are estimated to be 3,000,000 people.

This record includes more speeches, more miles traveled and more territory covered than that of all the other candidates for president or vice president of the United States of all other parties for the last 100 years, with the exception made by William J. Bryan in 1896, and it exceeds Mr. Bryan's record, which was 599 speeches made and 19,000 miles covered.

This wonderful campaign was finished by a two weeks' tour of the state of New York, during which the candidate traveled 2,253 miles through thirty-seven counties and made 120 speeches, the majority of them from the rear platform of the train.

The last day of this campaign included eight stops between Jamestown, in Chataqua county, and inclusive of Oswego, in Tioga county.

MR. BARKER SAYS BRYAN WILL LOSE

"Middle of the Road" Candidate Sees
No Hope for Him—He Expects to Poll 500,000 Votes.

Erie, Pa., Nov. 3.—Wharton Barker of Philadelphia, "middle of the road" populist candidate for president, expects William McKinley to be re-elected to the office next Tuesday. In a statement today he predicts that McKinley's majority in the electoral college will be greater than before. He said:

"I will poll 20,000 populist votes in Indiana, which will be enough to save the state to McKinley. In Illinois I will get a very large vote and McKinley will carry that state. I will get enough votes in Nebraska and South Dakota to defeat Bryan in those states. In Kentucky the same conditions exist and McKinley will carry the state. New York is republican by 100,000 majority, so I can see no hope for Bryan. I shall be disappointed if I do not poll 500,000 votes."

ROBBERS ARE HELD FOR A JURY TRIAL

Examination of Dillon, Riley and Hess Completed This Morning—Committed to Jail at Madison.

The examination of Thomas Dillon, Thomas Riley and James Hess was completed this morning. They were held for trial in the United States court at Madison at its next sitting which takes place in December and until that time they were committed to the jail at Madison. Marshal Bird and Deputy Jones will leave this noon for Madison with the three men. The United States was represented by Attorney Sheldon of Madison and the defendants by W. G. Wheeler of this city.

The men were charged with entering the post office at Footville on the night of October 20 and blowing open the safe. Valuable letters and postoffice supplies were taken and $53 was taken from one letter. The money was found in the mouth of one of the men when searched at Evansville. Burglar tools and powder were also found at the same time.

The case will go before a grand jury and if they find an indictment the men will be tried by the United States Court.

MARINETTE GREET'S BOB LA FOLLETTE

PEOPLE OF THE STATE ARE THOROUGHLY AROUSED.

The Grandest Political Demonstration
Ever Given in That City—Spooner at Fond du Lac—Cooper at Whitewater—Quarles at Watertown—
Chair Throws at Cooper.

Marinette, Wis., Nov. 3.—At 8 o'clock last evening the La Follette special rolled into the station at this place and was quickly surrounded by a dense mass of humanity the confines of which were lost in the distance. The streets were ablaze with torches and red fire, while skyrockets and bombs pierced the night and with loud reports showered colored lights and clouds of golden spray. The streets were crowded from building line to carriage way.

It was the grandest demonstration ever given a candidate for office here. Mr. La Follette was introduced and amidst a storm of applause opened his speech with a tribute to Isaac Stephenson, which was applauded to the echo.

The candidate's tour today is as follows: Prairie du Chien, 9:30 a. m.; Wausau, 10:50 a. m.; Boscobel, 11:20 a. m.; Muscoda, 12:40 p. m.; Lone Rock, 1:10 p. m.; Spring Green, 1:40 p. m.; Mazomanie, 2:45 p. m.; Black Earth, 3:10 p. m.; Cross Plains, 3:30 p. m.; Middleton, 3:55 p. m.; Stoughton at 7:20 p. m.

Spoon-er at Fond du Lac.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 3.—The republican campaign in Fond du Lac, was closed by Senator John C. Spooner who spoke at the Crescent opera house last evening. The county committee has taken a careful poll and estimates that the county will cast its vote for McKinley with a majority of at least 1,200, and that the entire republican ticket will be elected, together with the two members of the assembly and the state senator.

Cooper Speaks at Whitewater.

Whitewater, Wis., Nov. 3.—Congressman H. A. Cooper spoke to 1,000 people here last evening. He discussed all the issues of the campaign and was especially eloquent on imperialism. He was enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Cooper is very popular here.

Monroe, Wis., Nov. 3.—Congressman H. A. Cooper had a chair nudged at him while making a speech at Gratiot and the meeting broke up in general disorder after an officer had appeared and sought to restore quiet. Mr. Cooper had been interrupted by a question and his reply caused the fellow to throw the chair.

Quarles at Watertown.

Watertown, Wis., Nov. 3.—The republicans held their last rally of the campaign last evening. Turner opera house was crowded to the doors. Senator Joseph V. Quarles gave a very able address on the questions at issue and closed with an eloquent appeal for the republican cause.

More Registered Than Voters.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—Incomplete returns show that the total number of voters in the city will be about 80,000. This is nearly 20,000 more than the total number of voters in the city. Each side charges the other with padding the lists. Such precautions have been taken, however that there will be little danger of illegal voting here.

RECEIVED LETTER IN ITALIAN.

Parker Pen Company Were Looking for Italians Yesterday.

This week the Parker Pen Company received a letter in Italian from Venice, Italy. No member of the firm could read the letter or make out in any way the meaning of it. Yesterday Mr. Parker started out with the letter in his hand to look for an Italian. They visited the local Syrian fruit dealer but he failed to solve the mystery. Several Italians are now at work grading on Court Street and the boss of this gang was able to read the letter.

tions Are Now Fighting

ALVORD FREE FOR A MINUTE.

Discharged, but Rearrested, by a United States Marshal.

New York, Nov. 3.—City Magistrate Flammer discharged Cornelius L. Alvord, the defaulting note taker of the First National bank, from custody for a short time. The magistrate said he was satisfied that he had no jurisdiction in the case. Alvord was allowed to leave the court room, but as soon as he reached the corridor he was rearrested by a United States marshal, and taken before United States Commissioner Shields.

The commissioner held Alvord in $150,000 bail for examination Wednesday next.

FIND TREASURES IN FORUM.

Equestrian Statues of Castor and Pollux are Excavated.

Rome, Nov. 3.—Excavations just made in the Forum have resulted in discoveries of great value and interest. The finds include two equestrian statues of Castor and Pollux, belonging to the best period of Grecian sculpture, which stood before the temple of Castor and Pollux.

NOW REMAINS FOR THE PEOPLE TO SAY

Wm. J. Bryan Bids Farewell to Chairman Jones and Others—Speech at a Reception.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—William J. Bryan bade farewell to Chairman Jones and all the employees of the democratic national headquarters. The candidate and his wife walked to headquarters at eleven o'clock and made the rounds of the bureau, shaking hands and receiving best wishes from those who have assisted him in this campaign.

Then Bryan was escorted to the Iriquois Club, where, after a reception dinner, the candidate made a brief speech of a retrospective character, saying that a man amounts to very little in this world except that he may stand for great principles.

"Whatever honor you accord me is not for myself, but for the democratic party; we shall all rise or go down together. In this campaign we have challenged men who have been going up and down talking about destiny. I have tried to do what I thought right and best. My responsibility ceases Tuesday. It remains for the people to say whether I shall be a public servant or remain a private citizen. If I had been elected in 1896, I can say that I would not now be facing a crisis which confronts us. Many who in '96 thanked God that I had been defeated are now praying that I may not be defeated. If elected, my purpose shall be to disappoint no honest man."

CAME NEAR BEING A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Extra Freight in St. Paul Yards
Dashed Through the Round
House—No One Hurt.

What came near being a serious accident took place this afternoon at 2:10 o'clock in the St. Paul railway yards. An extra freight train with engine 613 left the depot at 2:10 and started for Monroe, but ran into an open switch near the roundhouse that took them over the turntable and into the roundhouse. An engine was standing on the table and was struck and pushed through the closed doors through the roundhouse and out the other side, breaking a masonry wall out in order to get through. The shock of the striking derailed three box cars and wrecked the tender of engine 613 and also broke her pilot. Engine 1356 had the headlight and pilot totally demtified.

It is strange that no one was injured as the tender of 613 shoved tight to the fire box and Engineer George Allen and just room enough left to stand in. Fireman Roy Mead jumped through the cab window and escaped without any damage.

The fault of the wreck is laid upon who ever left the switch at the water-tank open.

OSHKOSH AFFLICTED WITH DIPHTHERIA

It Has Become an Epidemic, and There is Likely to Be a General
Closing of Schools.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 3.—The conditions of diphtheria epidemic in this city are becoming worse and there is likely to be a general closing of the schools. The Sixth ward school is already closed. The Eleventh Street Grammar school and the St. Vincent's Catholic academy and the Eight Street Lutheran school are objects of solicitation on the part of the authorities.

In one of the rooms in the Eleventh street school, in which the attendance is nominally 100, only forty are attending.

In another room only twenty-seven out of fifty-one are attending school. Out of one room ten pupils are ill with diphtheria.

MOST GIGANTIC POLITICAL PARADE EVER ATTEMPTED

Nearly 130,000 Men in Line
Shouting for M'Kinley and Prosperity

NEW YORK WILD TODAY

Gov. Roosevelt and Other Notable Republicans Review the Marchers.

WIND-UP OF THE CAMPAIGN

New York, Nov. 3.—Under weather conditions that were unfavorable, drizzling rain and slippery pavements, a great business men's sound money parade in thirty-nine divisions this morning marched up Broadway and Fifth avenue to Fortieth street, the disbanding point.

The van guard left Battery park at ten o'clock and by nine o'clock tonight probably one hundred and thirty thousand men will have passed a given point.

Today's demonstration is counted by its proponents as the largest "peace pageant" New York has ever seen.

Manhattan island from the battery far up town are gorgeous in dresses of red, white and blue. The panorama was viewed by hundreds of thousands while a majority of the business houses suspended entirely.

Gov. Roosevelt joined the parade at Worth and Broadway, riding in a carriage and he received an ovation all along the line to a point where he left the procession and reviewed it from a box in Madison Square.

The parade is a solid mass of marching men representing every business interest in the country, carrying American flags and banners to indicate the trade or profession they represent.

The day's work began at 7 a. m., when a committee went to the Erie ferry to meet Governor Roosevelt. They took him to the Lawyers' club, gave him breakfast, then took him to an informal reception, then the parade started, the Governor, with the marshal and his aides, going to Worth street, where the head of the line was formed.

The hour of starting was fixed for ten a. m., and it is expected that the parade will be ended about nine in the evening.

The reviewing stand at Twenty-third street is decorated with red electric lights to make it cheerful and there was a magnificent display of fireworks in Madison Square and from the roof of republican headquarters, to start the parade.

Governor Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt were on the reviewing stand with a host of notables, and will remain there all day.

Cleveland Prosperity Parade.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 3.—Fifty thousand men are expected to be in the prosperity parade this afternoon when the shops and stores will be all closed to allow the employees to march.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Democratic Chairman Jones this morning issued a final statement. He claims positively that "Bryan's victory will be overwhelming."

Beveridge Nails a Lie.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3.—Senator Beveridge declares that it is an infamous lie that he predicted a landslide for Bryan. He says that the enemy must be desperate to resort to such base practices.

Over 10,000 in Line.

Milwaukee, Nov. 3.—Milwaukee republicans will hold their prosperity parade tonight. There will be 10,000 men in line and they will represent all classes of voters, from the business man to his humblest employee.

Democrats in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Democrats will commence parading the downtown streets tonight as a sign of the faith that is in them.

The division and brigade and club commanders have promised to turn out a total of 50,000 men.

Bryan Speaks in Chicago.

CARDINAL ROOTERS FOR MINNEAPOLIS

SPECIAL TRAIN LAST NIGHT

The Football Game in the Minnesota City Today Promises To Be For Blood—Right of Students To Vote Has Become a Big Question in the Varsity City.

Madison, Nov. 3.—Over three hundred cardinal rooters left on the special train last night for Minneapolis to witness the championship game between the Badger and the Gopher eleven this afternoon. A hundred or more Wisconsin enthusiasts preceded the excursionists to the Twin cities and our contingent on the field this afternoon will number about 500. The university band of twenty-two pieces will lead the Wisconsin forces in the parade from the West hotel to Northrup field where the game takes place. Each rooter is armed with a megaphone, tin horn or other hair raising instrument and has sworn to exhaust every ounce of lung power in his possession.

Betting on the result of the contest is lively between the admirers of the two teams. A big bunch of money for speculation went up from here on Thursday night and the fund was greatly swelled by the excursion crowd. Wisconsin backers rather hope to be given odds but will place their money on even terms if necessary.

The following special telegram has been received by a representative of the Daily Cardinal:

"Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 3.—Minnesota students are absolutely convinced that their team will be victorious in the game against the Badgers this afternoon. They have even gone so far, in their confidence as to pick the score, Minnesota, 12; Wisconsin, 5.

A monster mass meeting was held yesterday morning at the university in which President Northrop and several other members of the faculty exhorted the students to root as they never rooted before."

Right of Students to Vote.
The question as to whether the university students have a right to vote in Madison is assuming the importance of a campaign here. The republicans are uniformly in favor of allowing the students to vote while the democrats are unanimous in their opposition. For the past week whole columns of space have been devoted in the daily papers to the opinions of lawyers on the question. Attorney General Hicks has prepared a comprehensive opinion in which he cites numerous court decisions tending to prove the legality of the local student vote.

The republicans here declare that the attempt to bar the votes of the university men is a democratic scheme pure and simple. The vote in the congressional contest between Dahle and Aylward is likely to be close and as the students are at least 5 to 1 in favor of the republican ticket their vote is viewed with alarm by the democratic committee.

Reports have gone around to the effect that the democratic challengers will oppose any attempt on the part of the students to cast a ballot.

The republican committee promises that the rights of the student voters shall be fully protected.

The democratic congressional candidate denies that he is connected with any original effort to keep the students away from the polls but refuses to state his position upon the question nor does he offer any opinion upon the legality of the student vote.

Hundreds of students are registered and expect to vote; whether they will be interfered with at the polls by the democratic challengers remains to be seen.

Knox, the well known contractor, will erect a modern dwelling that will be a credit to that part of the city.

Several other costly homes will be erected in this fast growing section of the city in the spring.

The Colored Man, Who Was Sent to Wauwaton from Here This Week.

SCENE OF COAL STRIKE.

Some Features of the Anthracite Region.

MOST STRIKING ARE THE BREAKERS

These and the Strippings Make More Forbidding the Aspect of the Barren Land—Cave Ins and "Robbing." Excellence of Roads in the Coal Regions.

An ancient and popular tradition current among the mining folk of the Pennsylvania anthracite region records that this important district was created by joint handiwork and that an evil power made the hills, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The tradition bears witness further that when the evil power completed his rock bound hills and stopped to survey the smiling fertile valleys that had grown up around him under other hands he was filled with anger at the sight of the good things thus laid up for man and under cover of the night walked abroad and surreptitiously scratched with his fiery forefinger throughout the length of each alternate valley and that this searing process had the immediate effect of turning the blighted land into coal. Whatever geologists may think of such a theory as this, it certainly fits in admirably with the general aspect of the country as the stranger views it from any lofty vantage ground. Standing on any one of the many high and commanding mountains that are interspersed throughout the coal lands and looking around in a circle with a radius of perhaps 10 or 15 miles, there will be presented to the view a remarkable succession of dark, sparsely wooded, uninviting hills, covered for the most part with brush and abounding in rocky crests and jettings, while the valleys as far as they can be made out will appear a curious alternation of the most fertile farm land and as far as the surface goes of barren looking coal lands. The farms which the valleys contain are fertile and fairly prosperous, despite the absence of a sufficient abundance of running water, a feature natural enough when the barren nature of the low surrounding hills and the very considerable elevation of the whole district are considered.

But, leaving farmers and farm lands, let us take a closer view of some of the domains of King Coal. Standing on one of the "devil's hills" overlooking a coal valley, the home of the great industry, as far as it allows itself to be seen "aboveboard," stretches before us, and a number of striking features at once catch our eye. In the first place, throughout almost the entire extent of the four or six or eight miles over which the eye can range the valley appears on first view to be much the same as the barren hillsides which inclose it. A second glance, however, will reveal a hundred changes wrought by the hand of man. Most striking of all are the "breakers" that raise their huge black forms every mile or two throughout the valley. With the cluster of miners' houses that invariably is found at their base, often hidden from view by some undulation of the valley, these great buildings frequently seem as though they were standing solitary in a wilderness and with their peculiar hood shaped tops and inclined coal lifts in front of them they look like the head and shoulders of some gigantic monk, his cowl drawn close around his head and his arms stretched out in front of him, his palms resting on the surface of the earth. It may be said, for the benefit of the uninitiated, that the "breakers" are large and very high shell buildings, in which the coal as it comes from the mine is broken and sorted ready to be shipped. The great height is required in order that the coal, once elevated, will find the various processes by its own gravity. The buildings, if old, are of wood; if new, are of steel, in order to be fireproof, experience having shown that a wooden breaker offers the easiest kind of a mark for vengeance of a mob on a strike. A single brand and it is in flames; once on fire, it can never be extinguished.

But, even if the miners' houses cannot be seen, the breaker does not stand out entirely alone, for within 100 yards of every breaker in Pennsylvania stands the "dump," a slate pile, varying in size according to its age, sometimes no larger than a house when the breaker is "brand new," at other times a veritable mountain, 100 feet high or more and a quarter of a mile in length. It is composed of the refuse slate which it is impossible to separate from the coal in mining and which must therefore be separated in the "breaker," and, as the proportion of slate is very large and as there is no use to which it can profitably be put, it is piled by a system of chain buckets that can reach any distance and any height day after day and year after year in a growing heap, whose size is only limited by the capacity of the mines. Naturally the slate pile is a very conspicuous adjunct to a "breaker" and far from an ornament to the surrounding country. Whether this variety of slate will ever attain a commercial value—in which event these heaps would melt away like a snow mountain in the sun—is a question the future only can answer. For the present they stand twin brother to the "breaker," a very unique feature of the coal land scenery.

But these are not the only things that will catch the eye, for scattered throughout the valley there will surely appear one or two and perhaps half a dozen areas, some small and some large, where the surface of the earth has been stripped away and piled high along the edge of the pit that formerly held it. These are the "strippings," where a vein of coal running near the surface has been simply uncovered and thus removed, instead of the operators going through the more tedious, more dangerous process of mining it by shaft. To be sure, like the slate dumps, they are a horrible disfigurement to the country, for of course no attempt is made to replace the dirt taken away; but, then, without the coal the land would be of little value, and, with hard cash in the balance and the fires of thousands of locomotives, what matters the scenery of a desolate region? Some of the strippings, notably one a few miles from Lattimer, the scene of the shooting of the deputies a few years ago, are extremely deep, sometimes several hundred feet, and when deep a shaft is often sunk at the bottom. Most of them, however, are not over 60 or 70 feet in depth, the coal at a lower level than this being mined by shaft. Indeed it is often possible to see at the bottom of a stripping large air holes opening into the shafts, which have been run underneath from other points. The strippings are often of considerable length, 300 or 400 yards perhaps, and the impression which a succession of these unnatural workings present when seen from a distance can be readily imagined.

A closer survey of the country in one of these valleys reveals at once other very conspicuous features. Perhaps the two most noticeable reminders of the underground world that is pursuing its ceaseless business far below the feet will be found in the numerous "cave ins" and "air holes" that one is sure to meet at every side. "Cave ins" assume almost any size, from a sinking of the earth a few feet deep and a few yards across to great, deep sunken holes a hundred yards wide and 30 or 40 feet deep. They are the result of "robbing," the process that goes on in the mine when a certain vein is worked out, and the pillars that have been left to support the roof are robbed in such a manner that they soon afterward give way, and a cave in results. Of course cave ins are never very deep, for the veins of coal are never very thick, and 10 or 15 feet of earth will generally fill them up. They are, however, extremely frequent, and this might be said to be one of their chief features. No matter where one walks, if there is a mine below, there are excellent chances of finding a cave in within 200 or 300 yards.

The "air shafts," also very frequent throughout the country, are of course of little interest to one who is used to them, but when found by the visitor sometimes a mile or more from the nearest settlement and in the midst of a wood or a wilderness of underbrush they possess a strong and indescribable fascination, as the breathing holes of an underground world. They are generally well protected and always substantially built and strongly timbered. An iron pipe eight or ten feet in height and as many in width is their most common termination, though often in poorer mines they are merely boarded up to the same heights.

No sketch of the general appearance of the coal regions would be complete without a word as to the roads, whose excellence, everything considered, strikes one the moment he begins to drive over the country. True, in some parts, particularly where there is little active mining and little attention paid to road building, they are in very bad shape and rocky. For the most part, however, they are constructed of the red shale, so abundant in the neighborhood, which makes the best kind of a country road—firm, permanent and seldom dusty or muddy. Indeed, for country districts, there are no better roads in the state, taking them all in all, and, best of all, there are few portions of the state where continuous use of its roads will bring the traveler upon a greater variety of fine and commanding views and more interesting scenes and people than the anthracite coal regions upon which the eyes of America's workmen are turned today.

Innovations of British Journalists.
The conference of the Institute of Journalists held in London a few days ago, under the auspices of the lord mayor, A. J. MR. BRYAN'S WARNING

"If there is anyone who believes that the gold standard is a good thing, or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his vote for me because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."—Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 16, 1896.

GIRLS, BEWARE!

I will take any one worthy of consideration in the matter to a man whose business it is to send out agents to scour the country for girls, who, under promise of good situations, are brought to this city for "hellish purposes. Never was that business more flourishing than at present. In June, 1899, one of these cases got into print. Fifteen young women were brought to this city from the neighborhood of Allentown, Pennsylvania. Those cases got into the courts; hundreds do not. The details of this commerce are the most shocking of all that flourish. It is a traffic that invades the sanctity of the home, hundreds of miles away. It tugs at the heartstrings of mothers."—Franklin Matthews, in Harper's Weekly for October.

This startling statement should be copied by every paper in the land. It hardly seems possible that girls can be lured from good homes to New York or any other great city, and enticed to their ruin, and yet this nefarious work is going on all over the land.

A note of warning should not only be sounded, but fathers and mothers should recognize more fully the dangers that surround the girl's life, at the age between girlhood and womanhood, when innocence is so easily betrayed. There comes to every girl of life and animation, at this susceptible age, a spirit of restlessness, and frequently an ambition to break away from the restraints of home with its dull and prosy environments. The age when the girl likes to promenade the street in the early evening with a desire to make a conquest, and attract the attention of some young man for an innocent flirtation. The age when a spirit of recklessness lies so near the surface as to invite suspicion, and when a breath of idle gossip so easily produces a tarnished reputation. The age before a girl comes to herself and realizes that life is more than a holiday or a butterfly existence.

Happy the girl who passes this critical period and enters the domain of womanhood possessing the priceless jewels, character and good reputation, that are the crowning glory of womanhood.

Someone has very truthfully said that character is what we are, and reputation what people think we are. Character is the foundation of every good life, but it is possible for a girl to possess a pure character, and yet by thoughtlessness and a little indiscretion, to so mar her reputation as to blight the life, and bring great sorrow and disappointment. A good name is a jewel so rare that no one can afford to lose it and to a girl it possesses intrinsic value. Many an innocent life has been blighted and its usefulness destroyed, by a shadow of suspicion that resulted from a spirit of independence and restlessness under wholesome home restraint.

The girl who is at all observing discovers very readily that her sex demands absolute purity of action and conduct. She also discovers that the average woman has but little charity for frailty or indiscretion, and that the tongue of gossip and slander not unfrequently passes judgment without trial or investigation, and from this judgment an appeal is not easily obtained.

The court of public opinion is not always impartial, but the verdict of this court is of vital importance to the happiness and welfare of every girl when she steps across the border line that separates girlhood from womanhood. No girl can afford to say: "I don't care what people say or think about me;" that kind of independence sometimes leads to ruin.

Happy the girl who has in the home a mother who possesses the wisdom and the tact to so direct ambition and purpose that the developing life may early nature in judgment and surround itself with the safeguards so necessary to self-protection; and fortunate the girl who, without the home and the mother's influence, brings to her support the God-given instinct of chastity and purity in thought and action. The problems of life are important to every girl, but they are of special import to the girl who is obliged to solve them unaided. Every girl can afford to heed the motto, "Beware!"

Mr. Bryan is making his last grand stand play in Chicago, and he hopes to capture 40,000 votes as the result of three days' work. Mr. Bryan is doomed to disappointment and the city of Chicago will contribute to the disaster.

"The latest charge that has been made against me is that I am a lunatic."—Wm. J. Bryan, Chicago speech.

An honest demagogue is more dangerous than a lunatic; the latter can be locked up at state expense, but the best brain of the democratic party has yet to discover some way of closing up Mr. Bryan's face, to say nothing of the rest of his anatomy.

Mr. Bryan said in one of his Chicago speeches that if he could succeed in getting the rich and poor acquainted here so that they would know each other in heaven, he might be doing some good. If they followed his advice after they reached the better land there would be such a fight over the battlements that they would fall to discover the beauties of the New Jerusalem. If a man ever conducted a campaign of hate with an expressed intention of arraying the poor against the rich that man is Wm. J. Bryan, the exponent of every form that the fertile brain of man has ever discovered.

If I am made president I want to sign a bill giving the Filipinos the right to celebrate the Fourth of July.

—Wm. J. Bryan's Chicago speech.

That's a laudable ambition, but misdirected. The Filipinos possess that right now, and their first celebration will be much more patriotic with Mr. Bryan left out.

The Bryanistic managers, including Chairman Jones and Boss Croker, are in desperate straits when they talk about the purity of the ballot box.

The box is so pure in many of the southern states that a colored vote is not permitted to tarnish it. Consistency is a virtue that the Bryan people can afford to cultivate.

Senator Spooner predicts the close of the Filipino insurrection with the close of the campaign. There is no question but that Aguinaldo bases his hopes on Bryan, and that his defeat means demoralization to the insurgents.

The tests now being made in the schools of Chicago for defective vision, show that one-third of the children in the public schools of that city have impaired sight. It is not at all strange that many boys and girls are called dull in their studies.

The national debt decreased one and three-quarters millions in October, yet we want a change; our industries are being overworked and machinery and labor need a rest.

CLEVELAND IN NEW YORK.

Going Duck Hunting with Benedict—May Not Return to Vote.

New York, Nov. 3.—Ex-President Cleveland came to town from Princeton and called to see his friend E. C. Benedict at the latter's office. Mr. Cleveland, who looked very well, denied himself to all interviewers, sending out word that he had nothing to say. A representative of the firm of Benedict & Co. said the ex-president and Mr. Benedict were going out of town for a few days. He understood they were going on a duck-shooting expedition down in Maryland and that they would not return before the latter part of next week.

TO HEAR LAST SPEECH OF THE CAMPAIGN

Republican Club is Getting Up an Excursion to Hear La Follette at Madison Monday Night.

From all indications it looks as if the republicans of Janesville and vicinity will go to Madison, on Monday night to hear the Hon. R. M. La Follette. The meeting is under the auspices of the U. W. Republican club and the Janesville Republican club has received an invitation to attend. There have been several parties canvassing the city today and it looks as if there would be enough for a special train.

The band will probably be hired and if the invitation is accepted Madison will see a turnout from Janesville that will excel all such previous efforts. In accord with this the following call has been made:

Republican Club.

A meeting of the Young Men's republican club will be held at the office of Justice Jesse Earle this evening at 7:30. The matter of attending the La Follette rally at Madison on Monday evening next will be considered and full arrangements will be made if the club desires to attend.

GOLF TOURNAMENT ON ELECTION DAY

After Voting, the Members of the Mississippi Club Will Swing Their Clubs for Prizes.

Arrangements have been completed for a full day of golf playing at the Buckleton Links by the members of the Mississippi Golf club on Tuesday next, election day. Three prizes have been donated so that plenty of interest shall be developed and every golf player, no matter what his score may be for the eighteen holes, will have an equal chance of carrying off a prize.

J. P. Baker has offered a golf club as second prize, the winner of the club to select the sort of club he wishes. The Gazette has given a handsome wedgewood tobacco jar which is to be put up as first prize. Three Musselburg golf balls have been donated by a club member for third prize.

The playing is to commence at the grounds at nine o'clock in the morning and will continue all day thus giving all those who wish the opportunity of competing for the prizes at some time during the day. The play is to be a handicap against Bogey and the handicapping committee will have charge of this part of the program. The Bogey score for the nine holes is placed at 41 strokes and the players are handicapped against that score according to their previous records upon the links. The scores are to be kept by the opponents of the players and turned in to the handicapping committee after the eighteen holes have been played.

The club bus will meet all the street cars after nine o'clock in the morning and it is hoped that a generous attendance may be secured.

WILLIAM HADDEN SUES FOR $20,000

LOCAL HORSE DEALER IS ON THE WAY TO EUROPE.

He Managed to Be Detained But a Short Time—Mr. Hadden Was on His Way to France to Purchase Fine Bred Horses for Shipment to Janesville.

William Hadden, the well-known horse buyer who left Janesville a few days ago for France to purchase a shipment of horses was arrested while passing through Chicago.

He was detained on the charge of larceny as bail.

Mr. Hadden soon proved that the parties who caused his arrest were in the wrong and as such he soon left Chicago for New York City from which port he set sail for Europe last Saturday. Before leaving Chicago Mr. Hadden commenced a suit against his prosecutors.

The defendant is Jacob Koehler a stockyard horse buyer and the sum of $20,000 in damage is asked by Mr. Hadden for false arrest. Koehler claimed that Mr. Hadden owed him several hundred dollars. Mr. Hadden will arrive in Liverpool tomorrow morning aboard the Atlantic liner Umbria.

CORNELIUS BUCKLEY FAILED TO RETURN

Boss of the Democratic Party Would Not Back Bryan After Indulging in Much Talk.

Cornelius Buckley, of Beloit, head of the democratic party in Rock county, was in Janesville this week indulging in much political talk. In a West Side saloon Mr. Buckley made several remarks regarding Mr. Bryan. A prominent republican offered to bet Mr. Buckley five to one that McKinley would be the next president. "Boss" Buckley after making a loud and lengthy speech said that he would cover that bet and that he would go out and get the cash. This was last Thursday. At noon today Mr. Buckley was still missing.

CARRIAGE FACTORY STARTS THIS MONTH

When Running Full Blast It Will Give Employment to About Seventy-Five Hands.

The latter part of the month the Wisconsin Carriage Company will start the machinery in their newly constructed factory now in the course of erection on West Milwaukee street.

This means work for about forty hands from the start and about seventy-five when the factory is running at full capacity. This new addition to the city is one that Janesville is proud over. The building is constructed of red brick and is three stories high. A side track will border this building on the north.

It is the intention of the company to set aside a special day for the inspection of the building before the work commences.

When completed the entire structure will involve an outlay of $15,000. Coling & Wray had the carpenter contract, Green & Allen the plumbing and John Peters the mason work.

E. RAY STEVENS FOR THE ASSEMBLY

A Former Well Known Janesville Boy is Now in the Political Field.

E. Ray Stevens, a former well-known resident of Janesville, who is now a prominent lawyer at Madison, is a candidate on the republican ticket for assemblyman.

The voters in the Madison district are fortunate in having E. Ray Stevens as a candidate for the assembly. It is the most distinctive district in the state in a legislative way; and it is imperative that the interests of the university especially should be conserved by a man of force, familiar with the university affairs, and of influence sufficient to carry his measures. It is not always easy to get men of Mr. Stevens' type to take the time from a busy life to go to the legislature. Mr. Stevens has been identified with Madison for many years, is a man of the strongest character, a trained lawyer and will be a conspicuous figure in committee and on the floor.

BARBERS TIRED YELLING, NEXT

East Side Shop Puts in Modern Electric Call Bells.

Tired of yelling "next" every time he finishes with his customer, an East side barber has provided electric bells that do the work. When the tonsorial artist is about to allow his man to leave the chair, he gently presses an electric button and off goes the alarm. This saves both voice and time. The barber said: "At first my customers failed to catch on, but now they are right there when the alarm is first sounded. It's a great time saver, as I manage to send in the ring a little ahead of time."

J. A. DENNISTON KEPT BUSY

J. A. Denniston, local agent of the Home Forum Insurance company, which is now in financial trouble in Chicago, was kept busy today answering questions asked by the many local policy holders. Mr. Denniston says that as yet he has failed to hear from the mail office, but that he has written them for information; but he thinks the affairs of the company will undoubtedly soon be satisfactorily adjusted.

LARGE SUIT FOR DAMAGE.

Commissioner S. L. Patten Issues Papers in Luby vs. Bennett Case.

It was alleged that an action was begun today by Daniel J. Luby against C. C. Bennett for damages alleging malicious prosecution. It is said that the amount of damage is placed at $10,000 and papers in the case were issued last night by Circuit Court Commissioner L. F. Patten.

CONCERT AND BALL WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star Delighted with the Event Held Last Night.

The ladies of the Janesville chapter No. 69, Order Eastern Star, are happy today over the success of their annual concert and ball given last night. It was not only a social success, but quite decidedly a financial success as well and is a credit to the promoters.

The hall presented a very attractive appearance, the work of willing and deft hands. The most prominent of the decorations were the huge stars made of the five colors of the order. One hung from the chandelier among loops of ribbon of the same colors and the O. E. S. colors were also conspicuous among the festoons of bunting. The orchestra was seated behind a luxurious bank of palms and mammoth bunches of white carnations. In one corner of the room there was a pretty booth from which frappe and wafers were served during the earlier part of the evening.

The party opened with a program given by the Wisconsin Consistory quartet and Smith's orchestra. Daniel Protheroe's baritone solo was very much enjoyed. Mrs. W. T. Shearer played his accompaniment. Two songs sung by O. T. Bird made the hit of the evening. George Hatch sang "For Old Time's Sake" in a very agreeable manner.

The young ladies who acted as ushers for the program were Misses May Verjitt, Anna Stevens, Fannie Bennett, Nellie Rumlill, Elsie Fathers, Katherine Peters and Bessie Graves.

The success of the party depended in a large manner upon the efficient work of the committee of arrangements. The committee were Mrs. E. F. Woods, Mrs. C. A. Sanborn, Thomas Howe, W. H. Merritt and W. F. Carle. The floor committee were R. M. Bostwick, H. L. McNamara, Fred Howe, W. H. Ashcraft, F. B. Strickler, A. R. Talmadge, and J. H. Dorner.

FLOYD EARLE WAS SURPRISED.

To Find Thirty-five Friends Waiting His Return Home.

Friends to the number of thirty-five perpetrated a surprise on Floyd Earle last evening at the Olive street home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Earle. The surprise was in the nature of a warm send off as Mr. Earle will leave soon for Madison with his parents. The guests last evening were members of the host's Sunday school class at the Baptist church as well as school companions. They left as a token of friendship a costly rocker.

JOHN WATSON BETS $1,500 TO $300

MONEY SAYS THAT MCKINLEY WILL DEFEAT BRYAN.

Isaac Connors Again Comes Forth and Takes the Democratic End of the Proposition—Mr. Watson Does Not Fear the Outcome of His Investment—Sure Republicans Will Win.

This morning John P. Watson residing at 156 Prospect avenue wagered $1,500 against $300 that William McKinley will defeat William Bryan in the coming presidential election. The money was in three checks of $500 each on the Rock County National bank.

Isaac Connors placed the $300 and it is said that the same parties who covered Mr. Stillson's bet are interested in this wager. This is the largest bet that has been made in Janesville this year.

Mr. Watson, who is a retired contractor and one of the most respected and best known of the local residents, says that it is simply a case of finding $300.

LETTERS RECEIVED FROM PHILIPPINES

George Clark and Frederick Duller, Janesville Boys, Write Home from the Philippines.

Letters have been received in the city from the Philippine islands written by George Clark and Frederick Duller, two well-known Janesville boys. Mr. Clark reports that he is enjoying good health and that his regiment is well looking after the interests of Uncle Sam.

Frederick Duller in part writes: "The rainy season has set in and every day it has poured. To add to this novel weather program we now and then have an earthquake. One recently nearly threw us out of bed. Now if that isn't enough to drive you mad I don't know what is. Uncle Sam can't get me out of here quick enough. In these islands it would be impossible for a man to starve to death to plentiful and free is the fruit. In Manila it is different and there we have to pay high prices—for instance ten cents for three eggs. The churches all over the islands are grand. They have three priests to every church and a sermon every day and all day."

SUSPENDS 105 STUDENTS.

Culver Military Academy Takes Action.

TROUBLE OVER BOYS' PRANKS.

Two Expelled, 103 Suspended, Twenty Five More Leave Through Sympathy—Only Ninety-Two Pupils Remain at the Institution—Many May Return

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 3.—Because two students at Culver Military Academy, located at Lake Maxinkuckee, north of this city, were expelled from the school for a Halloween prank 123 more have left the school for their homes, 103 of the number formally suspended, the other twenty-five leaving through sympathy. The school had on the day before Halloween 222 students; to-day there are but 92 left. The boys who were expelled—Buckington, a "plebe," and Beck a sophomore—went out on the night of October 30 and did not return until 11 o'clock. This was a violation of one of the strictest laws of the institution, and both boys were sent to their homes. They prepared to leave on the night of the following day, and about 150 of the students held a meeting in chapel and then left for the station to say good-by.

March to the Station.
Before the station was reached only 103 of the cadets were left in the line, and they marched on, giving class and school yells. Not a store or saloon was entered and no property was destroyed. At the station they lined up and gave their departing comrades a rousing good-by.

As they gave their last cheer Major Gighilliat, the commandant, rode up and ordered them back to barracks. The boys formed in fours and marched back without a sound. The next morning they were told that they were under arrest and later in the day placed in close arrest.

On Friday morning the 103 who had been at the station—"out of bounds" without permission—were assembled before the Board of Trustees, which is composed of the three Culver brothers, and told that they were dismissed. Twenty-five more today packed their trunks and left the institution in sympathy.

Balance Ask for Furlough.
The rest of the boys have signed a petition for a furlough until Christmas, and if this is not granted they threaten to leave in a body. The majority of the students were from Chicago and St. Louis and the others from points in the south and far west. The boys feel confident that they will be taken back by Christmas. Colonel A. F. Peet, the school's principal, made the announcement of the trustees' determination in the chapel to-day. The principal was much affected as he stated the resolution and explained that, even if it were to break up the institution, obedience and observance of discipline would be insisted on. It was the first time in the history of the academy, he said, such a thing had happened, and the students, he believed, had been thoughtless in their actions, but the defiance of authority was too serious to be overlooked.

Forty Students Arrive at Chicago.
Chicago, Nov. 3.—About forty of the dismissed students arrived in Chicago. Many of them left at once for their homes at various points in Illinois and Missouri, but the Iowa boys, making the most of their holiday, went to the Palmer house to remain over and witness the University of Iowa-Chicago football game. Among the number were Earl Shaw, son of Governor Leslie M. Shaw, and Cadets Farmer, Van Brunt, Quail, Clark, Henderson, Wilbur, Clark and McQuaid. Farmer is from Farmer City, Van Brunt from Council Bluffs, Henderson, Dubuque, Shaw Des Moines, Wilbur Marshalltown, McQuaid Des Moines. Quail is from Minneapolis.

Will Watch for Leonids.
New Haven, Conn., Nov. 3.—Yale astronomers are preparing to photograph what leonids appear in the heavens this fall. Last year at this time the most extensive preparations were made to photograph the meteoric display, but the cloudy skies and the fact that but few leonids appeared threw the astronomers into a state of great perplexity. It has not been discovered since then what is the reason for the non-appearance of the meteorites. Dr. Frederick L. Chase of the Yale observatory says:

"There is just as much reason to expect the leonids at this time as last year. Astronomers have not yet been able to discover why it is that with the usual regularity with which the leonids come every thirty-three years the shower last year failed to appear."

To Carry Russian Troops.
Hamburg, Nov. 3.—The Russian government has commissioned the Hamburg-American steamship line to transport troops between Odessa and the far east. The Hamburg-American line has purchased the Brazil and River Plate fleet, belonging to A. C. De Freitas & Co., of Hamburg, and is now negotiating with the Hamburg &

South American Steamship company for a joint working of their respective services.

Stay Away from Havana.
New York, Nov. 3.—Senor Guyon of the Cuban newspaper La Lucha, published at Havana, who is here, says of the yellow fever there: "The United States marine hospital, the sanitary department and local physicians in Havana are a unit in their warning to tourists not to go to that city before December. By that time the danger will have been passed as the centers of infection will have been established. Were it not for the influx of foreigners in the warm months, the yellow fever would be an easy problem, because nearly all native Cubans have had it and are immune. Because of the large number of immunes in Havana there cannot be a yellow fever epidemic. There are now seventy cases, but widely scattered."

Secure Woman to Death.
Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The authorities of Allegany county are looking for the persons who manufactured a skeleton out of animals' bones, which frightened Mary Oldfield of Kardsdale to death Wednesday night. Miss Oldfield, accompanied by two friends, was returning from a Halloween party, where they were listening to ghoulish stories until their hair stood on end. When about to enter the woods a rattling of bones was overheard, and, looking up, the trio were overcome with horror at seeing a skeleton sweeping down on them from above. With a cry of terror Mary dropped dead. A searching party found a wire leading from the ground to a tree top, to which was attached a skeleton by a pulley.

Prefers Dolls to Husband.
Brandenburg, Ky., Nov. 3.—Although only eleven years old, Mrs. Minnie Gill is a grass widow. She has brought suit for divorce against her husband, Harry Gill, and if she gets it she will be the youngest divorced woman in the United States. She declares that her husband is mistreating her. They have been married only two weeks. Minnie only recently put away her dolls. Even now she enjoys reading "Mother Goose." The trouble with her husband became known when she went to her mother and said: "I'm not going to speak to Harry any more. I won't even play with him." She could not be pacified and her mother went to see the lawyers.

Died at the Age of 123.
New York, Nov. 3.—George Washington Freeman Horner Green, a former negro slave, died in the almshouse at Hempstead, L. I., yesterday at the reputed age of 123 years. Green is said to have been born on a farm near Elizabethport, N. J., on Jan. 1, 1777. He was sold to a Virginia planter named Horner, by whom, it is said, he was sold to Gen. Washington. In 1812 he was made a freeman and then came north and was employed by George Green, a Long Island farmer, with whom he remained for forty years.

Women as Sanitary Inspectors.
Many Englishwomen are now preparing themselves to pass examinations as sanitary inspectors. In this work the women already admitted have proved excellent officers.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE THIS?

Pen Picture for Women.

"I am so nervous, there is not a well inch in my whole body. I am so weak at my stomach and have indigestion, and I am losing flesh. This headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I nearly had hysterics; there is a weight in the lower part of my bowels bearing down all the time, and pains in my groins and thighs; I cannot sleep, walk, or sit, and I believe I am diseased all over; no one ever suffered as I do."

This is a description of thousands of cases which come to Mrs. Pinkham's attention daily. An inflamed and ulcerated condition of the neck of the womb can produce all of these symptoms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our portrait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N. J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the guiding advice of Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass.

No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medicine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when they ask for it at a store. Anyway, write a letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your troubles. Her advice is free.

FRESH DEMANDS ON CHINA.

Powers to Insist on Retirement of Empress.

FAR-REACHING QUESTIONS

To Be Determined Outside of the Matter of Indemnity and the Punishment of the Leaders of the Revolt—Drowns Emperor's Wife.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—It is stated today in quarters well versed in Chinese affairs that outside of the questions of indemnity, punishments, etc., now under negotiation at Peking, there are three vital and far-reaching questions to be determined—viz.:

First—The removal of the empress dowager, personally and through the influence of her advisers, from all participation in the Chinese government.

Second—The creation of an indemnity fund by the increase of China's customs revenue, either by the payment of the duties in gold instead of depreciated silver as at present, or else by doubling the present silver duties from 5 per cent to 10 per cent ad valorem.

Third—The establishment of a minister of foreign affairs, in place of the old and cumbersome system of the Tsung-li-Yamen.

The demand for the retirement of the empress dowager is said to result from the conclusion now generally accepted that the imperial government of China was responsible for the Boxer uprising.

Progress of Negotiations.

Paris, Nov. 3.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Peking, dated Oct. 31, says: "The foreign ministers continued today the discussion of the peace propositions to be presented to the Chinese. The French proposals were accepted. Additional specifications will be discussed on Monday. On account of the necessity for thorough accord between the different cabinets the final note will not be presented for several weeks."

A Havas agency dispatch from Peking, dated Nov. 1, says: "The French troops arrived at Siling on Oct. 28 and occupied the tomb of the Empress. The Germans, Italians, and English arrived afterwards and occupied the other imperial tombs."

Drowns the Emperor's Wife.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—A special dispatch to the Hamburg Correspondent says: "In a well situated in the imperial palace precincts in Peking was found the body of Emperor Kwang Su's favorite wife, Shen Ti, whom the Empress Dowager caused to be drowned before the flight of the court from the capital. The second favorite, Shing Fi, and a hundred women belonging to the imperial harem are prisoners in the hands of the allies."

Five Boxers to Die.

Pao-Ting-Fu, Friday, Oct. 26.—The commission of inquiry into the outrages on missionaries here has sentenced to death Tien-Yang, the provincial judge; Wang-Shung-On, the military commandant; General Kiu and two other officials. German and French troops will garrison at Pao-Ting-Fu for the winter. The preparations are complete for destroying, Oct. 27, the most venerated temple in the city.

McGovern Wins Bout.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 3.—Terry McGovern, the marvel of the prize ring, defeated Joe Bernstein of New York in the seventh round, before the Nonpareil Athletic club and 5,000 people. The feather-weight championship was involved and the battle was scheduled for twenty-five rounds, according to the eastern interpretation of straight Marquis of Queensberry rules. The inducement was a purse of $3,500, of which the victor received $2,500. George Siler was referee.

Mowatt Easy for Sullivan.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The pugilistic rocket that "Young" Mowatt, the street car conductor, went up with through two fights with Benny Yanger struck the ground last night. Mowatt met Tommy Sullivan, the brick-topped fighter from Brooklyn, at the Star theater and was outclassed in every stage of the battle. Mowatt did not land many clean blows. Jimmy Barry, who refereed, gave the decision to Sullivan.

Arrest Socialist Speakers.

New York, Nov. 3.—Six speakers of the Socialist Labor party who insisted on talking to an enormous crowd at Seventh street and Avenue C were arrested by the police. A good deal of clubbing was done by the officers, who numbered over thirty. The scene about the corner for several hours was wildly exciting and the police dispersed the crowd several times. The socialists went back to their headquarters overlooking the corner after securing bail and talked again.

Labor Fight in West Virginia.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 3.—In a pitched battle between the strikers at the Riverside works of the National Tube company, and the men who have taken their places, Walter Davis was fatally injured. Shots were exchanged and missiles of every description were thrown. More trouble is expected.

Almost Every Miner at Work.
Hazleton, Pa., Nov. 5.—The strike of the anthracite miners can be said to be a thing of the past. Nearly every man who went out was at work today, and in many mines enough coal was mined to warrant the starting of the breakers. The outbreak at Cranberry is settled, and at Milnersville, where it was expected there would be a long fight, an agreement was reached and the strippings are being worked. It is not likely that President Mitchell will return to Hazleton.

Returning from Transvaal.

Trieste, Austria, Nov. 3.—Ninety Americans who fought for the Boers in South Africa have arrived here and have left for Hamburg, where they will sail for America.

Symbols of Success

A vacant chair and a portrait on the wall—strange symbols of success! Yet, in many a home these are the symbols of the success of the man who did not find time to care for his health, or neglected the increasing warnings of disease which Nature gave him. When the stomach is "weak" and food is imperfectly digested and assimilated, it is only a question of time until the break-down comes. The stomach is the very center of vital power and must be kept in health if sickness is to be avoided. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It increases the supply of pure, rich blood, and gives the body strength to withstand the strain put upon it by the struggle for success.

"I was a sufferer from what the doctors called indigestion but after trying several eminent physicians failed to get a cure," writes Mr. Frank Mericle, of Independence, Jackson Co., Mo., Box 473. "Some of my symptoms were soreness in pit of stomach, flatness, freckling, constipation; sometimes soreness would extend to bowels. Some one recommended me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I did and after taking only a few bottles of 'Discovery' and your 'Pleasant Pellets' can say I derived more benefit from them than any other medicine I ever tried. I began to gain flesh from the start. Have recommended it to others and will continue to do so."

The sluggish liver made active by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The original paintings valued at $5,000.

BROWN BROS.

BIG BONES DISCOVERED.

Kimmswick's Mastodon Deposits
Visited by Professor Lucas.

LARGEST KNOWN IN THE WORLD.

Tusks Ten Inches Thick and a Leg
Bone Four Feet Long, the Largest Ever Seen, Were Uncovered—Largest Skeleton in the World May Be Recovered.

Professor F. A. Lucas, curator of the division of comparative anatomy of the National Museum at Washington for the past 13 years, came to St. Louis the other evening to inspect the prehistoric animal remains at Kimmswick, Mo., 20 miles south of St. Louis. There is no mastodon on exhibition at the National Museum, and efforts are being made to obtain one of that species of carnivora, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Accompanied by C. W. Beecher, superintendent of the grounds at Kimmswick, Professor Lucas devoted his entire time the other day to the exploration of the mastodon deposit, which he pronounced the largest in the world. Professor Lucas said:

"I saw accounts in the papers some time ago of the mastodon deposits there and made the trip for investigation. The deposit, underlying an area ten acres in extent, varies in thickness and extends under the surface in a continuous bed of from two to six feet. This is the largest deposit of the remains of the animals, which roamed around perhaps 2,000 years ago, that I have knowledge of. In fact, there is nothing in the world to compare with it unless it is the mastodon deposits at the head of the Yukon river, in Alaska.

"The directors of the National Museum are anxious to obtain the bones of a mastodon, but so far they have not been successful. There is a complete mastodon near Monroe, Ulster county, N. Y., but because of the pronounced opposition of the owner the negotiations for the purpose of the skeleton fell through. Mr. Beecher has, during the time he has been engaged in the work, found portions of the remains of a vast number of mastodons of every age and kind. For some reason which I have not time to investigate the local conditions were favorable to the formation of the deposits there, and I never saw anything to equal them.

"As a rule, mastodons are found singly, but such is not the case in the deposit visited today. Of course none of the skeletons found was complete, or the museum would not have any trouble in getting what it wants there. Many of the tusks are decomposed and the vertebrae missing, but I have hopes that Mr. Beecher will be able to get out an entire one, as we uncovered a specimen today which, in all likelihood, will prove to be in a good state of preservation. The most difficult matter to obtain in a mastodon is the tusks in the head, as they are usually gone to pieces when the skeleton is uncovered. Of course we could collect enough bones down there to build several mastodons, but that is not what the museum wants, because they would belong to perhaps 20 different animals instead of one skeleton. When a mastodon is unearthed and we find that none of the bones are missing, then they are carefully accounted for as they are removed, so that when the time comes for mounting we know that what we profess to have is not a counterfeit. Today, while making my examination, tusks ten inches in diameter were uncovered, which are the largest tusks, I believe, I ever saw, as an eight inch tusk is generally conceded to be an extraordinarily large one. While there I also saw the largest leg bone ever brought to the light of day. This was 48 inches long, and I hope that Mr. Beecher will be able to get out the entire skeleton without finding that some of the bones are missing. If he succeeds, that will give us the largest mastodon in the world.

"I saw today a small tusk which was coated with enamel. This is something which heretofore has not been known in America to my knowledge. In addition to the largest mastodon deposits in the world I also learned that there are bones of the great ground sloth, or mylodon, as we call it, and also species of the fossil bison in the deposits at Kimmswick. It would be a grand thing for the city, in my estimation, if those bones down there could be got out and preserved and in time put together." Professor Lucas left for Noble county, Ind., where he goes to inspect the mastodon deposits there.

Choynski Wins on a Foul.
Denver, Nov. 3.—With blood streaming from cuts over each eye, Fred Russell, the California heavy-weight, broke from a clinch as the gong sounded the close of the fourth round of his fight with Joe Choynski before the Colorado Athletic association and put two stiff punches to Joe's body, knocking him clear through the ropes to the floor, where he remained nearly five minutes. The foul cost Russell the fight, which he probably would have won but for his inattention to the bell. The "go" was scheduled for ten rounds. Russell tried to make a smash and bang affair of it, and had Joe running a good deal of the time.

Count Caserta in Distress.

Rome, Nov. 3.—Count Caserta, who styles himself "heir to the Neapolitan crown," is deep in financial difficulties. In order to extricate himself to some degree from this uncomfortable position and satisfy his inexorable creditors, he has sold his magnificent residence in Rome, the famous Palace Farnese, to the French government, as a residence for the French ambassador.

The college is Lord Strathcona's gift to McGill university and to the women of Canada.

Stopped Short of England.

It is said that the queen of the Netherlands profited by the shah not visiting England, for she has received the superb tabatiere of the finest enamel, covered with brilliant, which has been carried about as a gift for Queen Victoria, to be presented at Osborne on Aug. 10. This tabatiere was valued by a Paris expert at 50,000 francs.

Disagree on Engineers' Wages.
Danville, Ill., Nov. 3.—The Illinois coal mine operators and the hoisting engineers of the state are here endeavoring to fix a scale for the ensuing year. There is said to be a serious disagreement between the operators and the engineers. Tomorrow morning the operators will submit to the engineers their terms, which it is hardly believed will be accepted.

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman's Crowning Virtue.

BELTON, Mo., July 27.
For years I suffered terrible pains every month and my doctor told me I could not be cured except by an operation. I felt I could not submit to that and was so dependent I had given up all hopes of a cure. My husband insisted on my trying Wine of Cardui and at last thank God I did try it. Last month I did not have a pain and did all my work, which I had not done in seven years.

MRS. MINNIE LITTLE.

WINE OF CARDUI

Modesty is the crowning virtue of American women. It is the trait that all mankind admires. A modest woman is the most pleasing of all created things. Because of this becoming virtue thousands of women prefer to suffer untold miseries rather than confide their troubles to a physician, and to even think of submitting to an examination is revolting. They can't get their own consent to an operation. Wine of Cardui permits sensitive women to retain their modesty. With it they can cure "female troubles" in the quiet of their own rooms. If special treatment is required they can write to the Advisory Department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and their letters will be promptly answered by women trained in the cure of womanly weaknesses and irregularities. There should be no hesitation. Delayed treatment means a chronic condition. The longer postponed the harder to cure.

ASK DEBS TO WITHDRAW.

Friends Urge the Social Democrat to Quit Race for Presidency.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 3.—The Globe prints an open letter to Eugene V. Debs urging his withdrawal in favor of Bryan, the signers being Prof. Frank Parsons, president of the National Public Ownership league; B. O. Flower, founder of the Arena; Elwood Pomeroy, president of the National Direct Legislation league, and Dr. G. W. Galvin, all personal friends of Mr. Debs. The signers are all believers in the co-operative commonwealth, but are of the opinion that its advent will be hastened by Bryan's election. They declare that Bryan represents the movement against monopoly; that it is better to take the first step toward improved conditions than no step at all.

Elected by the Veterinarian.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.—The National Association of Agricultural Implement and Vehicle Manufacturers voted to meet next year in Kansas City. Shot for Spitting on Man.

New York, Nov. 3.—Robert Elkins, a shipping clerk, was probably fatally wounded by John Sweet, a salesman. Elkins was in front of the store where he works, engaged in marking a case of goods, when Sweet passed him. Elkins was kneeling at the time. He turned his head without seeing Sweet and spat upon him. Sweet became enraged, and before Elkins could arise to explain, drew a revolver and shot him in the neck.

Students Protest, but Yield.

Alliance, Ohio, Nov. 3.—The trouble between the faculty and students of Mount Union College has culminated by the strikers giving in. President Riker addressed the students, saying that the faculty could not recede, and subsequently the boys, after issuing a protest against what they regard as the unjust treatment of two of the suspended students, agreed to comply with the action of the faculty.
